Lincoln Middle School

January 2020

After a long holiday break, the students at Lincoln Middle School have focused on the topic of helping others by making a difference in their community. The students plan to visit a nursing home, Conestoga View, where they will participate in activities with the residents. Their ideas include: trivia and possibly a talent show. Since Valentine's Day is right around the corner, they also are planning to make small bags of goodies with a homemade card to give to some of the residents. The students want the residents to feel happy because they know some of the residents might not have family to visit them and it is important for the residents to know that someone cares about them. This also teaches the students the importance of volunteering and expresses their great leadership skills such as being helpful, compassionate, and purposeful.

MEET JORDIN!!

Jordin (7th Grade) has a determined mindset to attend Millersville University and become a high school science teacher. His role model is Lin Manuel Miranda because he is creative and inspirational with his work, such as his hit musical, Hamilton. Jordin also enjoys learning new topics in science, being on the beach, and eating his favorite meal: rice and beans. He hopes to be a role model for people who are younger than him by being respectful, compassionate, and dedicated which he demonstrates throughout the LFG program.

MEET JUNIOR!!

Junior (8th grade) enjoys studying math and plans to continue his education focus on robotics in hopes of one day becoming a Robotics Programmer. His role model is Bill Gates. In Juniors free time, he enjoys playing basketball, watching movies such as Avengers: End Game and vacationing at Rehoboth beach. Junior is a confident, compromising leader with excellent communication skills. He hopes to gain new perspectives in this group by exercising his ability to empathize with others.

STUDENT SPOTLIGHT

Reynolds Middle School

The students at Reynolds Middle School are jumping right back in after the holiday break! Our students have been diving deep into topics such as personal values, leadership qualities and motivation; building a strong foundation for their leadership abilities to thrive. The group has decided the title of their project will be "Stand Tall, Stand Strong" and their focus will be to prevent bullying behavior in their school by promoting kindness. To accomplish this, the students are presenting their plans to the faculty this month. Their plans include: inspirational wristbands for every student in the school, posters with positive messaging, a "word of the day" to be announced at the start of the week, and finally, a meet-up for any students who need a pick me up or just want to feel like they belong. Witnessing the thoughtful creation of this day has been inspiring to not only the students in the group but to our staff and the school staff as well.

"Don't be pushed around by the fears in your mind. Be led by the dreams in your heart."

SPOTLIGHT

Landis Run Intermediate School

Starting mid-January, nineteen students and three mentors formed an exciting new group at Landis Run, eager to participate in activities to get to know each other better. The group have been brainstorming both as a team and individually to find out what their ideal world might look like, helping them to form ideas of what type of service project they would be passionate about leading in the upcoming months. As the students learn more and more about their role as a leader among their peers, they will be able to identify their natural giftings as well as explore leadership qualities that they want to strengthen with the support of the rest of the team around them.

MEET KEEGAN!!

Keegan (8th grade) as a previous student in the program, she is excited to grow in her patience this year while she leads as a role model for other students. As a hobby Keegan enjoys cheering, and her favorite movie is Coraline. Her favorite food is mac & cheese, and her favorite school subject is ELA. In the future, Keegan hopes to study Psychology to become a therapist, or possibly a Forensic Psychologist. Keegan looks up to her mom as a role model, as she believes that her mom is strong, sweet, kind, loving, and always there for everyone. Keegan follows her mom's example by showing leadership qualities such as kindness, as well as trustworthiness.
